

GENERAL NEWS NOTES.

Items of Interest Gathered from Various Quarters.

Ex-Congressman A. J. Weaver, of Nebraska, is dead.

John C. Breckinridge will be perpetuated in bronze at Lexington, Ky.

The German Crown Prince is dying of a cancer of the tongue.

President Elmer of Harvard, is doing Sicily and Southern Europe.

John A. Roach, the new Mayor of Chicago, has been formally installed in office.

The island of Guernsey was shaken by an earthquake.

Three more constables have resigned in Ireland rather than take part in evictions.

Agent Joyce is suing the Marquis of Chichester for $50,000 damages for libel.

Padua for the week—United States 171, Canada 28, total 199, against 175 last week.

High license has been defeated by the Delaware Senate, and the Legislature has adjourned.

Montreal is again flooded in the lower parts of the city, along the river, to the depth of six feet.

Alexander Mitchell, President of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, died in New York on Tuesday.

The fifteenth and last reported bullet in Tallahassee stood: Perry 40, Blount 40, blank 1.

The Massachusetts House has passed the high license bill to a third reading. Vote, 188 to 89.

James G. Blaine has arrived in Chicago. He has completely recovered from his late illness.

The French crown law is bringing forth loud complaints in the republic. Petitions are pouring in.

An explosion aboard the Delta, at Wilmington Wednesday killed one man and injured several.

In a fight in Miami, between the Amers' boys and rebels, 50 of the former and 500 of the latter were killed.

Sam Jones will next carry the war into California, having agreed to an engagement at San Francisco in June.

Fire Wednesday burned out the Fulton (Ill.) Journal printing office and three other buildings. Total loss $25,000.

R. H. Knapp, the Atlanta broker who took his friends to the extent of about $35,000, was a Canadian by birth.

Via Bremen, 17, 740 emigrants have sailed to America from March 1 to January 1, against 13,750 for same period last year.

Marshall Bozane was painfully wounded by a Frenchman, who attempted his assassination.

The business portion of North Middle town, Ky., was almost totally burned down. Loss $85,000.

Nine of twenty-four Socialists were convicted of conspiracy in Berlin and sentenced to short terms of imprisonment.

A strong effort is being made to settle the silversmith strike in New York and Providence.

The Russian Commission has been informed to increase the duty on cotton goods and starch.

By a falling elevator (broken rope) in Cornersville, Ind., George Hampden was killed and J. McCormick fatally wounded.

Major John E. Blaine, paymaster in the army, and brother of James G. Blaine, died at Hot Springs, Ark.

The court house of Jones County, Miss., together with all the county records, was destroyed by an incendiary fire on Monday night.

Two more men lost their lives in the construction of New York's new aqueduct. A dynamite cartridge was accidentally exploded.

The President has appointed Col. Wesley Merritt to be Brigadier General, and Brigadier General Orlando B. Wilcox, retired.

Chauncy M. Depew is going to Europe in a week or two to commit several temporary speeches for next winter's lectures.

Prince Eugene, of Sweden, is in Paris studying with Bonaparte who regards him as the most promising of his students.

Joachim Miller has bought six hundred and forty acres of land near Shasta, Cal., and will become a farmer, if he isn't too indolent.

Friends of Postmaster General Viles say that he is not a Wisconsin man, but that he will be a millionaire in a little while.

Among the millionaire girls in Washington society are the Misses Riggs, who succeeded, with their brothers, to their father's banking business.

Millions of Corcoran, who does more for Washington than all the other millionaires lumped together, pays taxes on $10,100,000 worth of property.

Billy Emerson, the minstrel, who writes his first name with a small b, receives $900 per week and travels in a private car with his wife wherever he goes.

Queen Victoria has received enough jubilee gifts to fill a store house as big as Windsor Castle. Many of them have to be given away for want of space to put them.

Sensational Sherman's Mansfield friends say that their favorite is not a millionaire, but the man who has four acres in his acre rarely alludes to that fact prematurely.

Baron de Sartre, who has a castle on the Rhine and a villa just outside of Paris, is scattering some of his $6,000,000 among the New York porters.

As one of the illustrious "400" Colonel Thomas P. Ochiltree announces himself in favor of Don Cameron for 1888. This is pretty hard on Cameron.

Lord Randolph Churchill is becoming one of the favorite after dinner speakers in England, frequently attending as many as six banquets in a week.

Justice Woods, of the United States Supreme Court, has started from California for Washington, much improved physically by his sojourn in the Golden State.

Governor Wetmore, of Rhode Island, has gone to New York to explain to his political friends that a "bar" isn't worth a cuss where the Mugwumps are concerned.

Andrew Carnegie, the millionaire iron manufacturer, was married in New York to Miss Whittell, daughter of the late John W. Whittell.

Gen. Adam Badeau's story that General Lee and his family were fed by the Federal commissary, just after the surrender, turns out to be altogether false.

President Cleveland writes that he cannot attend the Calhoun unveiling in Charleston. He says the bill for the tribute to the character of the dead statesman.

The total amount of trade dollars redeemed to date is $5,242,000, which amount will be increased $490,000 by the recent importations at San Francisco from China.

A sensation was caused in Milwaukee Friday by the explosion of a bomb which is supposed to have been thrown from a street car. Nobody hurt.

Plots to kill the czar have been unearthed at Kiev and Odessa. They wanted to blow up the imperial car, apparently presenting.

Frank Laster and his wife were killed by cars on the trestle of the Georgia Pacific road at Birmingham, Ala. The latter was decapitated.

Charles C. Weller & Sons, Baltimore, made an assignment to Joseph Leopold for the benefit of their creditors. The bond of the trustee is $100,000.

Herman Levy, also Harry Levitt, the well-known infamously in the London dock murder trial, is suing the Chicago mail for $300,000—libel.

Dr. McGlynn's friends say that when he delivers his lecture in Boston on St. May, he will have as large an audience as he had in New York.

It is expected that another call for three per cent. bonds will be made in a few days. There are now outstanding $19,924,000 three per cent.

There were five passengers reported missing from the wrecked steamer Victoria. They have applied for their luggage and are all right.

The Queen of Serbia has separated from her husband, King Milan, and returned to her family in Russia—political and domestic difficulties.

An Irish non-commissioned officer has been dismissed from Woolwich arsenal for "giving away secrets." An accomplice goes with him.

By papal authority, the Nuncio at Paris announced that the Pope has promised to intervene in Alsace-Lorraine in favor of Germany.

The French Crown Prince are on exhibit in New York. The principal ones, principally from wives of United States Senators, are being received from America.

John E. Blaine, brother of James G. Blaine, is at the point of death in Hot Springs, Ark. He is paymaster in the Federal army.

Delaware's Anti-Poll Tax bill was taken up by the Senate. A duplicate bill is being introduced to the end of its legislative journey.

Male & Statmer's box factory, Wheeling, W. Va., was burned Monday morning. Loss $20,000; insurance $11,000.

The Building Trust Council organized in Chicago Sunday. Thirty thousand workmen in the building business are concerned.

John Drown's house, at Seven Mile Ford, Smyth county, Va., was burned Sunday night. His daughters, aged 19 and 21, perished in the fire.

P. J. Egan has been sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. It will be remembered he was convicted in St. Louis of election frauds last November.

Secretary Fairchild will attend the Calhoun monument unveiling. Assistant Secretary Fairchild will assume his duties in his absence.

In a speech before the Eighty Club in London, Gladstone favored a dissolution of Parliament, on the ground that it would be good for the country.

The American Newspaper Publishers' Association has established an office in New York. James S. Metcalf, of the Buffalo Express, is to be in charge.

The Lord Mayor of Dublin has called a meeting for the purpose of taking steps towards the erection of a national memorial to John G. Leary.

Cordell Gibson is supported by the Pope in his decision in favor of the Knights of Labor. The decree is conditional on good behavior on the part of the order.

A sharp shock of earthquake has been experienced over the whole of the island of Jersey. The tremor preceded from west to east. No damage was done.

The threatened strike of carpenters in Milwaukee, Wis., has been averted, the master carpenters agreeing to keep their charge open until after the 1st of April, and to pay men the present prices per hour.

The three-mastered schooner Geo. S. Marks, from Baltimore, Md., for Charleston, S. C., was blown up and set on fire from some unknown cause. Two of the crew were killed.

The charge that Parnell had something to do with the Phoenix Park murders is generally disbelieved. The matter will be investigated by a committee of the House of Commons.

By a dynamite explosion, 30 miles from Crystal Lake, Minn., August 10, John Good, Wm. Hornback, Joseph Weisman and three others were seriously hurt, and three mortally.

Evictions have been resumed on Lord Lansdowne's estates. O'Brien and Killip, who were evicted last Friday to denounce Lord Lansdowne's course.

The Delaware House, by a vote of 15 to 64, has passed a high license bill grading liquor licenses from $400 for Wilmington down to $200 for village and county taverns.

The Italian Parliament is in session. The government's policy was to be of peace, but, to keep up with the times, credits for increased armaments would be given them.

Phil. D. Armour is up at 6.30 in the morning and in another hour has read the market and stock reports, eaten his breakfast and decided on his line of attack for the day.

Tom Ochiltree says that he never contradicts a newspaper statement, but he does often wish that he could lay hands on the reporters who credit him with what he terms villainous gossip.

Prince Frederick Leopold, of Prussia, nephew of Emperor William, of Germany, and Prince Louis of Saxe-Coburg, have arrived in San Francisco. They are making a tour of the world.

Managers of the coal and iron companies in the Birmingham district have appointed delegates to wait upon the Interstate Commerce Commission when that body is in its Southern trip.

Major Peet Roche, of Chicago, has been appointed John English, a newspaper editor of eighteen years experience, his private secretary at a comfortable salary. The Mayor is evidently looking a little higher.

Annet Andrew Carnegie's rumored engagement to Miss Whittell of the Washington Post, which a year ago he was said to be engaged to Mr. Gladstone's daughter and later to the widow of a Scotch duke.

The Secretary of the Interior has requested the Attorney General to institute suit against persons in various sections of the country charged with unlawfully removing timber from the public domain.

A freight train on the Grand Trunk Railway went through a bridge over Nash's Creek, Friday, near Morrisburg, Ont. The engineer and fireman were killed and a brakeman was badly injured.

The Rev. B. DeBakey, D. D., a well-known member of the Philadelphia, Methodist Episcopal Conference, dropped dead at the depot at Ashbury Park. Apoplexy was the cause.

The striking Newark, N. J., brass moulders are suffering for the necessities of life. It is claimed that the Knights of Labor are being starved by them. They want out—and are still out—by order of the local assembly.

About 3,000 Chicago carpenters returned to work on the basis of 8 hours and 35 cents an hour. But employers agreed to be willing to engage men on these terms provided the men applying are skilled workmen.

Timber Agent Conner of Florida has reported to the General Land Office that a lumber firm in that State has caused to be cut and removed from government lands in one locality, 3,500,000 feet of timber, valued at $20,000.

A private letter from ex-Secretary Manning, the first he has written since his removal, has been received by a friend in New York, and pronounces him in better condition than at any time since his attack.

A special dispatch from St. Johns, N. F., says that a large crowd of the liquor traffic in that colony was defeated by the casting vote of the Speaker, but that it will certainly be carried at the next session.

Queen Kapisi of the Sandwich Islands has arrived in San Francisco, en route to attend the funeral of Queen Victoria. She will visit Washington to pay her respects to President Cleveland before going to England.

Six of the men arrested for complicity in the plot to assassinate the czar, which was hatched in London on the 10th of March, have been sentenced to death. Other conspirators will be sentenced to imprisonment for life.

In a fight in South Bend, Ind., between the city police and a gang of eleven tramps were captured, six of them were armed with revolvers. During the fight a policeman, John Metz, shot a tramp through the heart, killing him instantly.

The Pennsylvania company has exempted the St. Paul and Northern Pacific from a Chicago dispatch says that the company trunk lines have resumed the sale of through tickets over the Hannibal and St. Joe to Kansas City and points beyond.

The President has appointed Edward F. Birmingham, of the Chicago Tribune, to the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Chief Justice Carter. The appointee is a Democrat.

Municipal elections were held in a number of Illinois cities last Wednesday. The question of Henry's primary was a feature. A majority of the citizens declared for license, but in smaller places the anti-license ticket was uniformly successful.

The Rev. Mr. Carter, a Free Methodist minister, who has been conducting a series of revival meetings in Ohio, was driven out of the town of Walnut Hills by a mob of eggs for preaching doctrines obnoxious to many of the people.

The Supreme Court has sustained the validity of the Maxwell land grant and the oil and gas rights, covering over 1,700,000 acres, in New Mexico and Colorado. The present owners of the grant are bondholders of the Dutch Land Company.

The contract under consideration between Armour & Co., of Chicago, and the Seima Land Company has been closed, the same having been signed by both parties. Extensive warehouses of Armour, with refrigerators, will be erected at once.

The receivers of the Texas and Pacific railroad have applied to Judge Pardee for a construction of the later State law, setting forth their own construction. Pardee agrees with the railroad construction, and orders that it be followed until the further order of the Court.

Mrs. Richard H. Dana, who was Miss Edith Longfellow, and Mrs. J. G. Thorpe, who was Miss Anna Algers Longfellow, both daughters of the poet, are building houses on his former estate, which they will occupy when finished.

William Moore, a hotel man of Atchison, looks so much like Frank James that when he was in Kansas the other day, the predestinists insisted, but upon his coat and allowed their right hand to wander in the direction of their hip pockets.

The President has appointed Seymour Butler, of Boston, Second Comptroller of the Treasury, in place of Judge Maynard, promoted to the Assistant Secretaryship of the Treasury. Butler is 29 years of age. He is a native of Quincy, Mass.

One of the old boilers at the Georgia Chemical Works, Augusta, exploded Monday, killing a machinist named Geo. Biggers. At the time of the explosion four men were standing near the boiler, all of whom were knocked down by the concussion.

While walking on the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad near Erverson, Pa., two ladies, Mrs. Gettemy and Mrs. Anderson—were struck by a shifting engine and terribly mangled. The former died in a few hours and Mrs. Anderson is fatally hurt.

Rudolph Schnaubelt has been heard from. He says he did not throw the bomb, but intimates that he is sorry he didn't. He is in New York. He will be remembered by the crowd who took part in the riot in Chicago.

The Ridenour murder case, at Winchester, Virginia, has been concluded with a verdict of guilty. For intricate points of law and numbers of witnesses, the case has been the most interesting case, except that of Cluverius, in the history of Virginia's criminal jurisprudence.

Gov. Larrabee has written a letter on the workings of prohibition in Iowa. In 80 of the 90 counties, the law is rigidly enforced, and partially in the rest. He says prohibition has greatly benefited the State, and the only pollution lost is composed of confirmed rum sellers and drinkers.

At Detroit, Michigan, several months ago, the ship carpenters were struck, and men were brought from Maine to do their work. The Knights of Labor paid them $35 each to return home. One of the men did not return, and a suit was brought to recover his wages. The suit failed because the contract to return was illegal.

Governor Church, of Dakota, tells this story: A year or so ago, when I was making a journey into the Black Hills, the train stopped in the prairie and I saw a solitary house. The conductor charged to come along and I asked who lived there. "That," said he, "is where Mr. Jones and his wife live. There wasn't another house within 100 miles."

Temporary orders have been made by the Interstate Commission suspending the fourth section of the Act, on the application of the Norfolk and Southern Railroad Company. The Interstate Commission has suspended the fourth section of the Act, on the application of the Norfolk and Southern Railroad Company.

The party of Senatorial pleasure-seekers who recently came back from Cuba had a story trip from Havana toward Genoa. Mr. McKee and Senator Sherman didn't mind it, but Senators Manderson, Palmer and Aldrich were sad at heart—and elsewhere. These men, it is said, were not with Senator McKee, who was a bit with Senator Palmer of a box of oranges that she would stay on deck all day. She won the bet.

George A. Ford, a jeweler of New Haven, undertook to get up the invitation for Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland to the dedication of a soldiers' monument. He exposed the gorgeous document in his shop window. The New Haven Union called attention to some bad mistakes that a year ago he was said to be engaged to Mr. Gladstone's daughter and later to the widow of a Scotch duke.

Monday night a cyclone visited the vicinity of Suffolk, Va., with fatal and property damage. It is track across 100 yards wide. The house of John Wright, six miles north of Suffolk, on the Norfolk and Western railroad, was completely demolished. Wright and his wife and young son and James Luke, who was a boy, were killed. The young girl fatally injured, and Wright seriously hurt. Much other damage was done to property along the path of the cyclone.

The plantation of John J. Harris, near Turley, Ga., gives an aged colored woman who claims to be 106 years old. Her old, old living child is between 80 and 90 and her youngest, with whom she is now living, is a grandchild. She has been cooking for a family of 11 and in addition her kitchen duties find time to do all her sewing. Her eyesight is almost as good as it was 30 or 40 years ago and she has never had occasion to use glasses or to take a dose of medicine.

Taylor Ertman, a white farmer of Wayne county, N. C., was in his house, and with him was his family, a wife, daughter and two sons, aged 18 and 7 years. Ertman and the youngest son were killed. A bolt of lightning struck the gable of the house and the family were thrown in different directions. The wife ran toward consciousness and found Ertman and his two sons lying dead on the side of the road opposite the window. In a few moments the daughter and elder son also became unconscious. The house took fire, but the flames were soon extinguished.

Here is a little story of a crowd that will be satisfied with nothing but post offices; Postmaster Davis, of the town of Solar, Ill., receives the very moderate salary of 10 cents a year. The Postmaster at Peck, Ill., got 30 cents last year, while the Postmaster at Lear, Ark., got 31 cents. It is said that there are more than 16,000 Postmasters who receive no more than $40 a year and 10,000 who receive no more than $8 a year. Some of these men are on their own buildings or the offices they provide over and some do not. It is a worse business, on the whole, than shoveling for coal weight.

To Remove the Common Wart.

It is now fully established that the common wart, which is so unsightly, and often proliferous on the hands and face, can be easily removed by small doses of sulphate of magnesia taken internally. M. Gobat, of Lyons, has drawn attention to this extraordinary fact. Several children treated with three grains of magnesia daily, and ere long were promptly cured. M. Gobat also cites the case of a woman whose face was disfigured by these excrescences, who was cured in a week by taking three grains and a half of magnesia taken daily.

Other medical men reports a case of large warts which disappeared in fortnight from the daily administration of ten grains of salt—Medical Press.

As a rindrop incidentally a storm, so does a pimple upon the human body indicate health-destroying virus in the blood, which can be neutralized and expelled only by Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic.

Household hints—Pokers and brooms, sticks.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY.

The Republican "Policy."

(From the Columbia Daily Record.)

The Massachusetts Club, a body composed of Republicans, held a love-feast in Boston last Saturday—about three hundred guests participating. Ex-Governor Claiborne presided, and speeches were made by Governor Ames, Senator Dawes and Senator Hoar. The "policy" of the Senator Hoar constituted the speech of the occasion. He devoted himself to a criticism of the Democratic policy as outlined in a recent speech of Speaker Carlisle. He paid a high compliment to Mr. Carlisle as a man enjoying and deserving the respect of the Democratic party. He expressed the opinion that the party has no settled policy respecting the tariff and other vital questions, and that some policy in this direction must be adopted and proclaimed. On the other hand, said Senator Hoar, the Republican party has a clear, fixed, definite opinion and purpose—which he proceeded to state as follows:

"They agree that a great surplus in the Treasury is an evil. It takes from the people by taxation money which should be used for the benefit of the people. We propose to do away with this surplus, first, by diminishing the taxation which puts it in the Treasury, and second, by expending on the public utility, on the improvement of the country, on the improvement of the people. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot profitably be produced here. Where any article can be profitably produced here, and American labor is supported by its production, we propose to take off the duty on and reserve the American market for the American product. We propose to take off the duty on every imported article which enters into an American manufacture as a material, or as a necessary article of consumption for the American people, which cannot